Proper Citation: Vervet Probabilistic Atlas (RRID:SCR_000426)

Description: Vervet (Chlorocebus aethiops sabaeus) probabilistic atlas that defines an anatomical space (template) with associated tissue and regional prior probability maps. The atlas was produced from whole head MRI of 10 normal adult animal subjects. The package consists of two atlases. The Biased directory contains the average template and probabilistic atlases for selected tissue classes constructed by registering the training population to one subject. The Unbiased directory contains the atlas constructed using unbiased estimation. The atlas is suitable for use in any segmentation tool using a probabilistic atlas, for example those in Slicer.
