Proper Citation: Connectome Mapping Toolkit (RRID:SCR_001644)

Description: A Python-based open source toolkit for magnetic resonance connectome mapping, data management, sharing, visualization and analysis. The toolkit includes the connectome mapper (a full DMRI processing pipeline), a new file format for multi modal data and metadata, and a visualization application.

Abbreviations: Connectome Mapping Toolkit

Resource Type: data management software, data or information resource, data processing software, data set, image analysis software, image processing software, software application, software resource, software toolkit

Defining Citation: PMID:21713110

Keywords: magnetic resonance, connectome, mapping, data management, data sharing, visualization, analysis, connectome mapper, processing pipeline, python, connectomics, multi-modal, network analysis, neuroimaging, neuroinformatics tool, mri, knowledge-base, semantic, technology, mapping, source code

Funding: Swiss National Science Foundation 33CM30-124089

Availability: Free, Available for download, Freely available
