Description: An independent, non-governmental organization made up of members from the national standards bodies of 161 countries that develop and publish International Standards covering almost all aspects of technology and business. From food safety to computers, and agriculture to healthcare, ISO International Standards impact all our lives. The Central Secretariat in Geneva, Switzerland, coordinates the system. The standards are developed by the people that need them, through a consensus process. Experts from all over the world develop the standards that are required by their sector. This means they reflect a wealth of international experience and knowledge.
