Proper Citation: Roche: LightCycler 480 Real Time PCR System (RRID:SCR_018626)

Description: System includes: LightCycler 480 instrument which is real-time PCR device, allowing the use of additional thermal block cycler units (96-well and 384-well format) with the system; LightCycler 480 Software which provides intuitive, easy-to-navigate user interface for real-time PCR programming, data capture, and data analysis to study gene expression and genetic variation. LightCycler 480 II represents newer generation of the same real-time PCR system, with improved features like enhanced optics for more uniform plate analysis across all wells, potentially leading to increased accuracy and consistency in data collection compared to original LightCycler 480.
