Description: Information dissemination service of the National Institute of Diabetes and Digestive and Kidney Diseases (NIDDK) providing information about endocrine and metabolic diseases in easy-to-understand language: online, in booklets and fact sheets, by email, and over the phone to patients, health professionals and the public. The NEMDIS provides the following informational products and services: * Response to inquiries about endocrine and metabolic diseases, ranging from information about available patient and professional education materials to referrals to patient support organizations. Assistance is available by phone (8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. eastern time, M-F), fax, mail, and email. * Publications about endocrine and metabolic diseases, provided free of copyright, in varying reading levels. Available online or in hard copy. NEMDIS also sends publications to health fairs and community events. * Referrals to health professionals through the National Library of Medicine's MEDLINEplus, which includes a consumer-friendly listing of organizations to assist in the search for physicians and other health professionals.
