Description: Creative Bioarray is a well-recognized service provider propelled by integrity, expertise and the desire to contribute to simplify, improve, and accelerate research speed of the scientists by providing the highest standard quality research products and services. Since it founded, Creative Bioarray had recognized that an important obstacle to make development of basic bioscience and preclinical researches using human specimens is the lack of access to reference materials. Consequently, Creative Bioarray was determined to be the first commercial entity specialized in building up the largest tissue-sharing platform by integrating the detailed clinical information of all the tissue samples. <http://www.creative-bioarray.com/home.asp>
