Description: Provides IRB-approved research projects or clinical trials with human tissue samples or hematological samples. Supports translational research by functioning as primary fresh-frozen tissue acquisition and processing facility for human solid tissue and hematopoietic specimens. FWCC Biorepository works in collaboration with medical and surgical teams at Ochsner LSU Health Shreveport, the Department of Pathology to procure remnant tissue for research purposes, and investigators in need of biospecimens for their research. Provides customized services and equipment to assist investigators in the procurement, analyses, and clinicopathologic correlation of human tissue specimens.
